

'DAVID HARUM' AT CRAWFORD

Redmond Company To Give Noted Play; Picture Theater Bookings.

As a special attraction for the cattlemen's convention, the Ed. Redmond Follies will stage at the Crawford for the entire week commencing with the matinee performance tomorrow afternoon, a special version of "David Harum." In staging this play, the Redmonds are making a distinct departure from their usual comedy-drama with a comedy situation to offset each heart throb and a tense dramatic story serving as the basis—but it also happily lends itself to the interpretation of melody numbers.

Ed. Redmond will appear in the star role, that of the down east banker and "bum" trader, while Bobbie Dean, Joe Kemper, Marvin Hammond, Gracie Harris, Irene Noblett, Ed. Young, Marion Gray, Louis St. Pierre, Peggy Carter, Eddie Mitchell and the "Redmond dancing daisies" will interpret the special song and dance successes.

Attractions at the picture houses for cattlemen's convention week will be as follows:

The Week at Elksay.
Sunday and Monday—Dorothy Phillips in "The Talk of the Town."
Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—Alice Joyce in "Vivacious," a special production of Charles Klein's stage success, "The Lion and the Mouse."
Friday and Saturday—Mabel Normand in the screen version of "His Hospitality."

Attractions at Graham.
Sunday only—New Mack. Sonnet comedy, "Cupid's Day Off." Jack W. Kerrigan in "Hiders of the Range," and "The Week."

Monday and Tuesday—Mary Miles Minter in a pleasing romance, "The Eyes of Julia Deep."
Wednesday, Thursday and Friday—Margaret Fisher in a big city romance, "Fair Enough."

Saturday—Fatty Arbuckle. Sonnet comedy, and Tom Mix.

Attractions at Unique.
Sunday—Harold Lockwood in "The Great Romance."
Starting Monday—Bessie Barriscale in "A Trick of Fate."

Starting Tuesday—May Allison in "In See Thirty Days."

Starting Saturday—Grace Darmond in "What Every Woman Wants."

Which's Whizbang Features.
Sunday—Hearst's News and all comedy bill.

Monday to Wednesday—D. W. Griffith's latest masterpiece, "A Romance of Happy Valley."

Thursday—Maurice engagement of George M. Cohan in his photoplay, "Hitting the Trail-Holiday."

Friday—Fatty Arbuckle in "Campfire Out," Screen Telegram and "Love of the Circus."

Saturday—Comedy bill, all new but "Campfire Out."

The Bijou Bill.
Johnny McCon, manager of the Bijou theater, offers the following attractions:

Sunday—Constance Talmadge in her select comedy, "Blossoms for the Gown," also a review of the "Seventh Cavalry" at Fort Bliss, led by Col. S. B. H. Tompkins.

Monday and Tuesday—Gertrude Parr in a superlative, "Temptation."

Wednesday and Thursday—Virginia

Could You Tell Your Wife From A Twin Sister?

This Girl Says Any Man
Could; That No Man
Could Be So Fooled.

"Of course, it couldn't happen in real life, but it makes a good story and it has a lot of laughs," said Miss Hazel Stafford, of "His Bridal Night" company, at the Texas Grand, when asked if she thought any man could ever be fooled by a wife's twin sister as badly as he would take her off on a honeymoon with him.

"You couldn't fool a man in a million years about the woman he loved," she said, continuing. "The plot of the play, of course, makes him go away with the wrong girl, but there is some humorous something between a man and a woman who really love each other that cannot be explained, which would prevent any such mistake.

"I believe you could blindfold a man and put him in the same automobile with the woman he had just married and he would know it was her. On the other hand, he would be able to say that it was not his wife. If another woman had been substituted.

"Two women never lived so much alike that the sweetheart or husband of either could not identify them. It is all very well for the plot of a comedy, for the authors to make believe that the two sisters are so much alike that neither the sweetheart of one nor the husband of the other can identify the one he loves, but when a man or woman loves, there is something in that love that draws them together. They nuzzle no such mistakes as the playwright has been making."

An Advance Invitation.
Cattlemen and their wives who intend to visit El Paso during convention week are cordially invited to include our store in their El Paso program.

For more than a quarter of a century we have enjoyed the confidence of the cattlemen of the Southwest and want to renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

Government Animals
AT PUBLIC AUCTION

An additional 1500 HORSES and MULES will be sold at auction to the highest bidder, commencing at 9 a. m. March 7, 1919, at AUXILIARY REMOUNT DEPOT, No. 326, Camp Cody, New Mexico.

1000 Horses, Cavalry and Artillery, ranging from 900 to 1400 pounds, and 500 Mules, weighing from 900 to 1300 pounds, will be offered at this time.

These animals are all serviceable, conforming to Government standards, but are in excess of peace basis requirements and must be sold.

Animals will be sold singly, in pairs, fours, tens and car lots to suit bidders.

A halter and shank will be furnished with each animal.

Animals will be allowed to remain at the Depot 24 hours after the sale, and will be loaded at the Remount loading chute under the direction of the purchaser.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

Terms: Cash or certified check.

For further information address
MAJ. F. G. BREWER,
Commanding Aux. Remount Depot, No. 326, Camp Cody, N. M.

Note—A sale will also be held at El Paso on March 10th, and buyers can conveniently attend both sales.

DRY CLIMATE RUINS PIANOS

Many Instruments of Fine
Reputation Will Not Stand This Dry Climate.

Of the 550 different piano manufacturers in America—many of which have won enviable reputations in the north and east—but where the climate is DAMP—have dried out and cracked after a few years' use in this dry climate of the Southwest, and this fact should be most seriously considered by prospective piano purchasers.

There is just one way to avoid a mistake of this kind—buy an instrument which has successfully stood the hard test of time. Such tested instruments can be had at the El Paso Piano Co., 215 Texas St., because this house, the oldest piano house in El Paso, has spent the past 22 years finding pianos suitable for this "dry" climate. And you can now feel confident that an instrument is not being conducted with your money.

The following pianos have proven themselves absolutely reliable in this climate: Steinway, Everett, Fischer, Harvard, Weber, Stroud, Rebutz and Aeolian Co.'s Pianos.—Adv.

When A Girl Goes Out and Sells Tickets To See Herself In A Show

Bettie Parker, who has a principal role in Cohan and Harris big musical comedy success "Going Up," which will be at the Texas Grand theater on March 10, 11 and 12, likes nothing better than to loiter around a theater box office but, she was recently lured by trying to be a ticket seller, for since the war started, women have replaced men in a number of the minor box offices, and while playing a town in New England, Miss Parker believed the ticket seller, while the latter went out to lunch, her first customer was a Black Bay matron.

"I want two seats down in front," said the matron.

"Yes, matron," said the ticket seller, "there's two good seats in the sixth row, center."

"You said," said the matron sternly, "I said down front; the sixth row is not down front."

"But there are no good seats left in front of the sixth row," said the ticket seller. "Remember they have been on sale for a number of days."

"That's what you box office women always say," said the woman. "I must have seats nearer than the sixth row."

Miss Parker fumbled at the rack and brought forth a pair of seats in the fifth row, away on the side, not half as good as the ones she offered the woman. She passed them to her and she grinned triumphantly.

"I know you were lying," she said. "I wouldn't take them at all only they tell me that this Parker woman is very beautiful and a great dancer."

"Yes, matron," said the ticket seller. "Four dollars, please, and 40 cents for war tax."

"You're woman, are you sure that war tax goes to Uncle Sam? I have my doubts about it," said the woman, handing over with her tickets.

"Can you beat that?" said Miss Parker, snatching her brew. "I don't think such a box office woman ever in time for me to make up, where is the regular ticket seller? Ah, here she comes."

MINSTREL AND SONG SHOW TO BE GIVEN BY CLUBMEN

Rehearsals started Friday night at the University club or the Gridiron club's monthly open meeting for March which will be a minstrel dance and song show. A session of the Gridiron club will be reproduced in the alcove of the club and the entertainment will be followed by a dance.

RECIAN—FATTY ARBUCKLE.
The Recian theater offers another big Saturday show that is sure to please and entertain the regular Saturday Recian fans.

Fatty Arbuckle will be seen in another one of his funny ones, "Fatty and the Four-Flusher."

Tom Mix will again provide plenty of thrills in "Pain in Blue."

The new Big V comedy "Chumps and Co." is a laugh provoker of the best kind, in which the Big V bathing girls play a prominent part.

This entire bill is being shown at the Recian theater today only at popular prices. Adults, 15 cents; children, 5 cents.—Adv.

BIJOU—EXTRA FINE BILL.
If you were a pretty and neglected young wife, what would you do if a middle-aged man, a lecher without took advantage of your husband's interest in his work to try to win him from you? This is the problem that forms the basis for a delightful comedy in "Blossoms for the Gown," the subject picture in which Lewis J. Selznick presents Constance Talmadge, which will be shown at the Bijou theater today.

An extra attraction will be shown also today, in the "Current Events" reel. The seventh cavalry passes in review at Fort Bliss, led by Col. S. B. H. Tompkins.—Adv.

HAROLD LOCKWOOD—UNIQUE.
A romance of thrilling adventure, where a prince or lover, who is a dainty American maid, is the main theme in "The Great Romance," one of the most elaborate and beautiful pictures ever made. It is a delight to the eye, a stimulant to the mind and a joy to the heart. The Great Romance will be the attraction at the Unique today and tomorrow. The shows start at 12:15, 2:30, 4:45, 6:15, 7:30, 9:15 and 10:30.—Adv.

Whoopie! Here's A Drink Which Cheers But Does Not Inebriate! In "Yerbe Mate" There's A Kick

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—It is hard to have to do this, but it might just as well be done frankly—there is no harm for the hard drinker in "Yerbe Mate," the Paraguayan tea. Recently at a dinner in New York it was announced that this beverage would come within the strictest specifications of the prohibition law, but that, while it had no alcohol, a "kick" reposed within the brew from its leaves.

It's all wrong, according to Washington scientists, who have been called upon to answer all kinds of questions about drinks since the 11th amendment was ratified. They have even been asked whether the law permits the manufacture of two percent beer, which is a persistent rumor, but which legislative and revenue experts, rather than scientists, do not take seriously.

But as for "Yerbe Mate," as has been said of its cousin Oolong, "It cheers but does not inebriate. If it does not inebriate it is quite certain there can be no 'kick' in it. Ask any drinker."

"Yerbe Mate" is a popular drink in South America, where John Barleycorn never had such influence as in this country. It is supposed to be like Oriental tea, and is declared to be even more palatable and soothing. If you have a craving for exhilaration or stimulation without intoxication, and without injurious effects attendant upon the use of the more powerful drinks, and if you are tired, "Yerbe Mate" will fill the bill. Of course, this is what the chemists who have analyzed it say. But if it does not inebriate it is quite certain there can be no "kick" in it. Ask any drinker.

It will be given Friday evening, March 1, for the club members and their friends. Another rehearsal will be held Sunday afternoon. After the rehearsal Friday night, a gridiron lunch was served in the grill.

Jordan Now In France,
Anxious to Come Home

Mrs. Pearl Jordan, 701 East Missouri, has just received an interesting letter from her husband, Thorpe C. Jordan, who is with the 21st field signal corps 30th division, American expeditionary force. Jordan entered the service October 18, 1917, and arrived in France in time to take part in three big engagements. He carried a mule foot and was made affidavit as to its working efficiently.

When You Come To Town.
21 Field folks are fortunate in having close at hand a place where they can have their eyes examined and glasses fitted or repaired or new lenses replaced in short order.

And folks out of town are almost as well fixed by sending broken lenses or eyeglass frames that need repairs there is only the difference in time which the mailing consumes.

But examinations—real eye tests—are different. You must be present in person.

And certainly you value your eyes enough to realize that a trip to El Paso is more than justified. If you have other business to transact well and good, if you haven't don't sacrifice your eyes for a little time and railroad fare.

Prescribes Five Gallons of Booze For 'Medical Use'

Augusta, Me., March 1.—At a hearing on a liquor seizure case, Dr. Nealley, of Bangor, testified he had given a prescription for five gallons of whiskey for medicinal use. He testified that at the time the person to whom the prescription was given was not ill, but that it was his opinion that five gallons of whiskey was not an unduly large amount for a man with a family to have on hand as a preventative for disease, particularly at a time when influenza was so prevalent.
